Pre-war Malay Periodicals Notes to Roff's Bibliography Drawn from Government Gazettes I. Proudfoot*

Abstrak: Roff telah menggunakan beberapa sumber sekunder di dalam menyediakan bibliografinya mengenai majalah-majalah Melayu yang diterbitkan di antara 1876–1941. Di dalam makalah ini sumber-sumber sekunder tambahan berupa warta-warta rasmi sezaman keluaran pemerintah telah diteliti untuk mendapatkan maklumat berguna mengenai majalah-majalah tersebut. Semua maklumat ini diberikan dengan rujukan tepat kepada sumber-sumbernya. Susunan dan pertomboran judul adalah menurut aturan dalam bibliografi Roff. Sebagai tambahan, beberapa indeks disediakan supaya maklumat ini dapat digunakan dengan berkesan.

The publication in 1972 of William Roff's Bibliography of Malay and Arabic Periodicals in the Straits Settlements and Peninsular Malay States, 1876–1941,¹ has provided an important bibliographical tool. In this book, Roff provides not only descriptions and locations for early Malay periodicals, but also a valuable commentary and several indexes.

A strength of Roff's work arises from the fact that it is based on his personal inspection, and use, of holdings in the libraries he deals with. While Roff does draw upon some secondary sources, such as Muhammad bin Dato' Muda's *Tarikh Surat Khabar*² or W. Makepeace's 1908 article on 'The Press'³, the only contemporary official publications which he uses are the Straits Settlements Blue Books. He has not exploited a considerable amount of relevant information contained in the Government Gazettes of the Straits Settlements and Federated Malay States.

Just two years before his Bibliography appeared, P.H. Lim had pointed to the existence of this data in her Newspapers Published in the Malaysian Area.⁴ The purpose of this paper is to indicate where this information may be found.

Under the terms of the Registration of Books Ordinance 1886 (later the Printers and Publishers Ordinance), the printers of works put out in the Straits Settlements were required to register their publications with the Colonial Secretary's office, and to deposit three copies of each publication. Naturally, this ordinance applied to periodicals as well as monographs. One of the deposited copies was to be sent to the British Museum. This is no doubt one reason for the comprehensiveness of the British Museum collection so evident from Roff's location listings.

Similar provisions were enacted in Perak with the Book Registration Order 1895, and in Selangor with the Book Registration Enactment 1898, both superseded by the Printing and Books Enactment 1915 of the Federated Malay States. Johor followed suit with a Printing and Publications Enactment of 1931.⁵ Each of these enactments required the keeping of a 'Catalogue of Books Printed or Published' by some competent authority: the Johor State Secretariat, or the curator of the Selangor Museum for instance. These catalogues may survive. They would be very interesting documents for the history of publishing in the Malay states. But of immediate interest is the additional provision in the Straits Settlements, Federated Malay States, and Johor legislation which required that entries in these catalogues should be published quarterly in the appropriate government gazette. Thus the Straits Settlements Government Gazette (SSGG) offers a great bibliography of published material in quarterly lists beginning in 1887. Less extensive, but equally significant for its periodical registrations, is the Federated Malay States Government Gazette (FMSGG). The Johor State Secretariat, however, seems to have made only a desultory attempt to apply its enactment, and between 1932 and the Japanese occupation only two titles were ever notified, both in the third quarter of 1932.

The notifications of registration in SSGG and FMSGG follow a prescribed pattern:

- (1) Title
- (2) Language in which the book is written
- (3) Author, editor, or translator
- (4) Subject
- (5) Place of printing
- (6) Place of publication
- (7) Name and address of printer
- (8) Name and address of publisher
- (9) Date of issue from the press
- (10) Date of publication
- (11) Number of pages
- (12) Size
- (13) Number of the edition
- (14) Number of copies
- (15) Price
- (16) [SSGG only] Name and address of holder of copyright

Clearly there is a large body of bibliographical data here, although its shortcomings must also be appreciated.

To begin with, the information was not always recorded with great knowledge or interest. So, for instance, we find 'The Kabar Bintang Senior' for Kabar Bintang Timor (Roff no. 88), or bald titles such as 'Arabic School Magazine' for Wihdatu'l-Madaris (Roff no. 121). I doubt that in all the registrations of Tetauan Muda the curator of the Selangor Museum managed the same description twice. Needless to say, the names of editors and publishers are no less affected.

Secondly, the registrations do not necessarily distinguish periodicals from monographs. With the FMSGG this is not a great problem, as registration of a continuing publication was repeated quarterly. With the SSGG matters are less clear. Here the policy was generally to notify registration of the first issue of a periodical, and subsequently only upon a change in ownership or the like. It is therefore occasionally difficult to determine whether or not a publication is a periodical. Of course this is often known from other sources; but in a few cases we have to rely on the title registered or the description of the subject matter. A few doubtful cases remain.

Despite these shortcomings, the gazettes do provide some new information which complements and supplements Roff's material. This was demonstrated by Yusuf A. Talib in his review of Roff's Bibliography,⁶ (though with perhaps too unqualified faith in the quality of the Gazette data). As an instance of new information, we learn from the SSGG that Mohd. Ali b. Harun al-Hindi not only edited Lengkongan Bulan (Roff no. 12), but had also been editor of Pemimpin Warta (Roff no. 9). We also find a few titles not known to Roff. In a sense, this information is useless so long as there are no known holdings of the periodical in question. Yet even if we know only that a certain periodical existed, under the guidance of a certain editor, we make small gains of two kinds: first, we have a fuller impression of publishing activity; and secondly, we are alerted to the deficiencies of extant holdings of periodicals.

An especially interesting category of information concerns circulation. Roff comments: "Questions concerning circulation, though obviously of importance in some respects, are extremely difficult to answer satisfactorily. To start with, no information at all (except of an occasional and incidental kind) is available for periodicals published in the peninsular states.

⁵ ibid., pp. 157-158

⁶ Journal of Southeast Asian Studies, vol. 5 (1974), pp. 279-282

Even for the Straits Settlements, the figures appearing annually in the statistical Blue Books published by the government ignore many periodicals and give incomplete information concerning others.”⁷ From what has been said here already, it will be clear that the FMSGG and SSGG offer much hitherto overlooked data on circulation. The figures for size of print-run provided by the publisher or printer when registering the periodical issue are available for every title registered. These figures are, however, subject to all the difficulties of interpretation which Roff goes on to discuss,⁸ with the additional problem that the SSGG usually gives figures for the first issue only. This will hardly be the most reliable indicator of sustained circulation, especially in cases when the first issue was a preliminary sample distributed for publicity purposes. In this regard the continuing registrations of the FMSGG are much more informative.

Comparison of the registered print-run figures with the circulation statistics given in the Straits Settlements Blue Books will help resolve Roff’s uncertainty about the basis on which the latter figures were compiled. For just under half of the titles listed in Roff’s tables I-IV, the Blue Book circulation figures for the first year correspond with the print-runs recorded for the first edition in the Gazette. Of the remaining cases, a majority have higher first-edition print-runs recorded in the Gazette. This pattern, and particularly the high degree of correspondence, tends to confirm Roff’s impression that the Blue Book figures he quotes are based upon information provided by the publisher or printer concerning numbers of copies printed, and that they therefore relate very roughly to total circulation and not merely to circulation in the Straits Settlements.

Some of the occasionally wide discrepancies between Blue Book and Gazette figures must flow from the fact mentioned above that the SSGG usually records first-edition figures only. The print-run of a first edition will tell us more about a publisher’s aspirations or marketing strategy — whether well or ill-judged — than about stable longer-term circulation. Nevertheless, for what they are worth, I have given Gazette print-run figures in the listings below, alongside the Blue Book data extracted by Roff for comparison where available.

The remainder of this paper sets down references to the Gazette registrations of periodicals falling within the scope of Roff’s Bibliography. Sometimes additional information is given, but in general I have noted only what seemed significant additional information. Minor discrepancies have been disregarded: in such cases Roff’s information is to be preferred as the more informed and more carefully compiled. For new titles not listed by Roff, and in cases where Roff has found no holdings, I have given a fuller account of the Gazette registration data. As the following listing is intended only as an ancillary to Roff’s standard bibliography, I have followed Roff’s numbering scheme, adding unnumbered new titles in the appropriate places.
